EX-CHAMPION CORBETT, WHO WILL DEPEND ON HIS SPEED TO BEAT O'BRIEN IN SIX-ROUND BOUT

ACCORDING TO THE DOPE

O'Brien Could Not Make as Good a Showing Against Fitz as Jim Did, and Coming Six-Round Bout Looks to Be the Ex-Champion's.

BY ROBERT EDGREN.

Jim Corpett and "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien are matched to fight in Philideiphia, six rounds, at catch-weights, on or before Sept. 9.

Jack O'Brien did a wise thing when he gave up trying to force Corbett make weight for the fight. Jim Corbett trained down to 175 or 180 pounds would be a faster man than he will at a heavier notch, and he will be fast enough as it is to give "Jumping Jack" the liveliest time he ever experienced in the ring.

Corbett was the fastest big man that ever entered the arena. In his artier fights he had the Philadelphia spectre beaten a block for speed. He kept his agility unimpaired until his last fight with Jeffries, and then Corbett slowed up.

Jim took it into his head that he was so much faster than Jeff that he could afford to lose half his speed for the purpose of gaining in hitting do not know how far they have to So he went to work with heavy weights, a sand-filled dummy travel. The distance is written on a that he pulled and hauled around, and other muscle-producing apparatus, card, placed in a sealed envelope and He developed a good punch, but his lightning-like footwork disappeared. handed to the judges. After the race When the fight with Jeff began Corbett discovered to his dismay that the starts they will open the envelope, and nt was fully as fast as he himself.

Since that time Corbett has been taking great care of himself. At his home in Bayside, L. I., he has worked continually, playing tennis and doing the finish is in sight. Such a race has other light exercising stunts. His old-time speed—so Jim says—has come back to him-

THE CARSON CITY BATTLE.

When Corbett fought Fitzsimmons at Carson he jabbed the freckled achter's head off for six rounds. The first six were all Corbett's, and he played with Fitz, seeming twice as fast and clever as the Cornishman.

Jack O'Brien a few days ago fought Fitz in Philadelphia. That was six-round affair, and Jack could let himself out as fast as he pleased, knowing that the end of the sixth would find him fresh enough if he wasn't knocked out. He fought three rounds just as Corbett did at Carson, jabbing Fits all over the ring, making a show of the veteran. But that was all. During the next three Fitz turned the tables.

Fitz is not so great a fighter as he was in 1897, when Corbett met him. still O'Brien could not make the showing "Pompadour Jim" did.

On this "dope" it looks as if Corbett would have a long lead in the chances. But Corbett himself may not be the same Corbett who fought O'Brien is in perfect trim. His body is strong, for he kept going after taking half a dozen of the famous Fitzsimmons wallops. Corbett's body is softer. O'Brien counts upon body punching to win for him.

Corbett will weigh about 185 pounds. O'Brien will be twenty century runs are now out. This is the longest run of the year throughout the United States, and annually gives all ambitious cyclists a chance to try their endurance powers.

The first century will start on Saturday. Aug. 7, from the Bedford Rest, Brooklyn, at 7 P. M., and as there will be full moon and the roads are among the finest it is expected a large number will start on the first century. The second century will also start from the Bedford Rest on the following day, Sunday, at 7 A. M.

To all those who complete the first century a handsome medial of sterling silver will be awarded, and to all those who complete the full 20 miles as beautiful gold medal with double bars will be presented.

SENSATIONAL

Championship Dash Will Bring Crack Sprinters Together for a Big Purse-Once Around the Track the Distance.

f a mile next Saturday is the most sensational race that has been arranged for Manhattan Beach this season. This means only once around the track, and with a purse of $500, all to go to the winner, and every fast "pro" in Amerca entered, the predictions of the yeling experts that it will be a bruising race seem in a fair way to be verified. Five other races will be run. The Metropolitan Handloap, two miles, and peted for by the "pros." The amsteurs will have three races, a third-mile novice, the Jacquin Handicap, at one mile, and an "unknown distance race." The latter race is a novelty, and should equal in interest the "miss and out race" which proved so enjoyable last Saturday. In this event the riders prescribed distance, when a gun will be fired, that the riders will know when never been run at the beach, and the uncertainty of the distance, the extra prises offered to the winners and the large entry list make it a race that all lovers of cycling will likely remember for a long time.

Four prizes are to be given for the event, a valuable locket inlaid with diamonds for the winner, a gold watch, diamond cuff buttons and gold cuff buttons to the contestants who finish second, third and fourth respectively. The entries should be made with C. M. Wills, St. Paul Building.

All arrangements have been completed for the annual carnival and water sports of the Horseehoe Harbor Club, of Larchmont, N. Y., which are to be held on Aug. 27. These sports are usually looked forward to by the summer colony of not only Larchmont, but by the residents of the summer places.
